Colourstrings Course

This intensive three-day course is about the Colourstrings teaching method and the Colourstrings philosophy, which is based on Zoltán Kodály's pedagogical principles. The Colourstrings method creates a firm musical foundation, where the development of instrumental technique, the musical hearing (with the help of relative solmisation), the understanding of musical concepts and musical emotions go hand in hand. These workshops by Géza and Csaba Szilvay are a continuing lesson programme for instrumental music teachers. Participants signing up for this course will be active in music making during the classes. Violin, viola and cello players are encouraged to bring their instruments! Other participants of the Muziek als Vak weekend are welcome to observe classes.

Teachers: Géza Szilvay (violin) Csaba Szilvay (cello), Colourstrings Finland

Time: Friday 16, Saturday 17, Sunday 18 Nov 10.00-17.00
